Greetings from Innovation Academy!

There are many opportunities for students to take advantage of this summer, both on and off campus! This edition of our newsletter focuses on opportunities to get involved!

The IA Summer Speaker Series kicks off tonight with guest speaker Dr. Keith Stanfill. Ph.D, P.E.!

Dr. Sanfill is the Director of the Integrated Product and Process Design (IPPD) Program.

Keith Stanfill serves as Professor of Industrial and Systems Engineering at the University of Florida. His teaching and research interests are in technology transfer, product realization process, design education, design for X, and manufacturing systems. He has directed the efforts of more than 250 multidisciplinary design teams and over 1500 senior-level students. His knowledge of prototype development, product design and the research and hard work associated with these efforts will help highlight all the areas our students need to focus on for their Creativity in Action course.

FLMNH Needs Teacher Assistants!

The Florida Museum of Natural History’s Education Department is seeking intern teacher assistants for their Summer Camp program. Interns will work under supervision of the Public Programs Staff and a Summer Camp Teacher and will assist the teacher with development (prior to the start of camp) and implementation of half-day, week-long summer camp sessions.

Summer Camps at the Florida Museum are designed for campers enrolled in grades 1-6 for the 2014-2015 school year. Camps provide hands-on, inquiry-based opportunities to learn through activities and Museum resources. There are seven weeks of camp, starting on June 9 and ending August 1. Each week-long camp session is half day (morning or afternoon), and has a different science or natural history-related theme. Each intern will be paired with a teacher and camp session for each week. Each intern must assist with a minimum of three complete camp weeks throughout the summer. While this is an unpaid position, they are happy to work with students who need placements or would like to intern under an independent study opportunity.

Submit your cover letter and CV to Amanda Harvey, aerickson@flmnh.ufl.edu, to apply.
Summer Plunge 2011 still in need of volunteers!

Summer Plunge is a single-day service project where volunteers will branch out into various areas of Gainesville to participate in exciting service projects. Students and community members will be able to learn about service opportunities in Gainesville, meet new people and network with campus leaders, and experience their community first-hand.

Harm Museum Internships

The Harn Museum of Art invites students from all majors to apply for fall 2014 internships.

Find complete information on specific internship projects offered this fall, as well as an application at this Website: http://www.harn.ufl.edu/workwithus

Projects are available in many departments of the museum, including Curatorial, Development, Education, Facilities/Grounds, Marketing & PR, Registration, Visitor Services, and the Store. There are a limited number of funded internship opportunities, and most internships are unpaid. All of this is outlined in detail at the above Website, and in the application.

Contact Lstevens@harn.ufl.edu for more information. Application deadline is June 1.
Center for Leadership and Service Hiring Marketing and Social Media Intern

As an intern, you will learn about CLS programs and the work they do on campus and in the community. You will help create a marketing campaign that will attract students to their office and enhance a student’s commitment to service and leadership in the community. This internship is ideal for anyone interested in using their creativity to get experience in marketing and branding within a university department. For more information, please contact Dan Sibol at daniels@leadershipandservice.ufl.edu
