REQUIRED TEXT

REQUIRED MATERIALS
For participation in this course you need to bring all of these materials to class each day:

- Idea Book/Sketchbook for brainstorming, diagramming, idea generation (No smaller than 8”X5” in size with blank pages. No grid or ruled paper; you can continue in your same book from IDS 1353).
- Two 3”X3” post-it notepads
- 1 dry-erase whiteboard marker
- Tablet or laptop computer with internet access
- $20 per person budgeted for final prototype and poster

COURSE DESCRIPTION
This course focuses on the development of creative problem-solving strategies through completion of an innovative project. Students will refine the design thinking skills developed in IDS 1353, they will prototype a concept, test and refine the prototype, and complete and present the final project.
Prerequisite: IDS1353: Creativity in Context

PURPOSE OF COURSE
Students will become fully immersed in the human-centered design thinking process. The tenants of the 4P’s, 13 Creative Thinking Tools, and creative theories from IDS 1353 will be translated into practical application in this course. Students will be tasked with finding innovative solutions to real-world problems through building an original concept, testing and iterating the idea, and presenting a complete prototype that will be exhibited and presented in an all-class, public, IA exhibition, known as the Catalyst Showcase.

COURSE GOALS & OBJECTIVES
By the end of this course students will
1) Experience the human-centered design thinking process by:
   a) Defining the path to innovation: Discover, Perceive, Ideate, Make, Connect, Launch,
   b) Being able to find problems primed for innovation solutions,
   c) Collecting research through at least three human-centered methods of inquiry,
   d) Evaluating research findings and synthesizing learning to find at least three unique solutions to the design problem,
   e) Demonstrating application of at least three creative thinking tools to generate original ideas during the design process, and
   f) Effectively use the process of design thinking to iterate ideas, pivot ideas, and create a refined prototype that solves a design challenge.
2) Engage in interdisciplinary collaborations and consensus building to acquire an awareness of:
   a) Team work structures and dynamics,
   b) The nature and value of integrated design practices, and
   c) Methods of conflict resolution.
3) Define innovation as a solution that is: novel, desirable, feasible, viable, and ethical.
4) Effectively and professionally present an innovation concept and prototype in a public showcase.

ATTENDANCE POLICY
Please be advised that IDS1359 does not subscribe to a "free cut" policy for any missed classes. This is a short semester and a lot will be covered in each class. You will be allotted 1 unexcused absence or 2 unexcused tardies. After that you will lose 5 points on your participation grade per subsequent absence and 2.5 points per subsequent tardy.

Excused absences are documented illnesses and/or documented emergencies, approved by the course instructor. Missed work for these approved absences must be made up within a timely fashion. If students miss a class for some (unexcused) reason, they should email their instructor immediately and obtain any material or assignments from another class member in their section. Please note: Class PowerPoint presentations will not be distributed or made available on e-Learning.

Requirements for class attendance, make-up quizzes, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found at:
https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx
Note: This course only runs for five weeks during the six-week semester. There is no class following the Catalyst Showcase.

PARTICIPATION
Participation in class and with outside of class assignments will help you make the most of your IA experience. This highly experiential class requires active dialogue, small group work, and hands-on-exercises to facilitate the learning process. The expectation is that you come to class having completed all outside of class assignments. You are also expected to give the course material, the instructor, and fellow students your full attention. In order to focus completely on learning activities texting, web surfing, or using electronics for non-course activities cannot occur during class time. Inattentive or disruptive behavior that impedes you from fully participating in class or prevents others from paying attention is not acceptable. Students who do not meet participation expectations will be given one warning by email, and continued behavior issues will result in the loss of participation points per course instructor’s discretion.

Participation is defined as coming to class having completed all module work and being ready to discuss the required readings and videos; initiating meaningful contributions to class discussions; fully completing all individual and group class activities; participating actively in group work; and demonstrating the ability to apply class learning to assigned projects. Consequently, a significant percentage of your grade will result, not only, from attendance but also from participation.

As stated in the Innovation Academy Advising Syllabus students are responsible for checking email and e-Learning for course communications at least once every 24 hours. Instructors will not be held accountable for students who are unresponsive to electronic communications about coursework that could impact students’ grades. If you are not receiving regular emails from e-Learning or your faculty, check your “clutter” inbox in the UF email system to make sure your course emails are not being incorrectly marked.

PROTOTYPE INVESTMENT
When the course enters the phase of prototype development you will be given a list of places at UF and in Gainesville where you can acquire materials for prototyping. Be resourceful. There are many places to acquire cheap and even free resources. You may have other resources to add to our list or to inform your fellow students about. Please share. For your final prototype and presentation, you should invest no more than $20 maximum per person in your group. You may, of course, use less if you’re able to still design a quality product and poster presentation.

INNOVATION ACADEMY SPEAKER SERIES
(Required out-of-class participation)
To further enrich course learning, students will have the opportunity to learn from industry experts who will be invited to share their stories and experiences with you relevant to the course learning. Attendance will be required to attend 1 designated IA speaker outside of class. Student participation in the IA Speaker Series is expected and will follow the same attendance policies noted in the syllabus.

Speaker: May 24th @ 6:30-7:30pm, location TBD
Jim Harrison, Creative Director of The Agency

CATALYST – Friday, June 9th, 2:00-4:30pm, Emerson Alumni Hall, President’s Ballroom (Students should arrive to the event by 1:40pm).

The course will culminate in an Innovation Academy sponsored event called the Catalyst Showcase where your class teams will present your prototype solutions to the Catalyst Innovation Challenge. This is a juried event with selected award winners. Attendance at this event is required unless your absence is due to a conflict approved by your instructor at least 2 weeks prior to the event. If a student has a scheduled class during Catalyst, they can request an excuse letter from their instructor to try to be excused from their class so that they can attend Catalyst. It is up to the other instructor’s discretion if the request will be granted. If it is not granted, the student will be excused from Catalyst, but needs to make sure they have worked to support their team’s presentation in other ways. Participation in Catalyst is critical. There is potential that an unexcused absence at this this event will significantly impact your final project grade.

At the Catalyst Showcase event, all teams will have a 6ft. table to display their projects. At minimum, teams are required to have a refined, complete, working prototype and a professional-looking, well-designed digitally printed poster. It should measure 24” x 36” and be dry-mounted, spray glued, or evenly taped on to a flat piece of foam core. Student teams need to bring a stand or something to prop the poster on the table with. Students may bring other created or display items for their table that enhance their prototype demonstration and pitch, however, the total amount spent on all the items cannot exceed $20.00 per person in the team. All team members should be prepared with a one-minute form, function, and benefit pitch for their innovation.
